CONSIDERING APPLICANTS FOR SECRETARY OF CLUB

Definite action in the matter of selecting a successor to Wm. E. Hacker, as secretary of the Paris Commercial Club, has been deferred for a time, until the committee appointed at a recent meeting of the Club can reach a decision.

The committee, composed of Wm. O. Hinton, John F. Davis and Dr. M. H. Dailey, has been considering a large number of applications submitted to them, and, though the names of several were passed upon, final action will not be taken until the committee has made a thorough investigation of the qualifications of each applicant.

At the same meeting the directors of the Club considered plans for co-operation with the Community Service in forwarding plans for the park improvement program for next spring.

DR. M. L. GUNN NARROWLY ESCAPED DROWNING

Dr. M. L. Gunn, of Harlan, who married Miss Dorcas Ussery, of this city, had a narrow escape from drowning last week, while answering a hurry call to a patient near Harlan.

Mrs. Frank Lankford was taken suddenly ill in the night and John Middleton, her twelve-year-old brother, who was living at the house volunteered to go after Dr. Gunn. After notifying the physician the boy set out for home, while Dr. Gunn saddled his horse. At the river, the lad was overtaken and Dr. Gunn helped him to the horse's back behind him to make the crossing. The current was running very swiftly and the horse's legs were swept from under him.

Dr. Gunn was weighted down by a storm coat and with great difficulty reached the shore fifty yards down. He saw the lad clinging to a projecting root, and made haste toward him, but when he arrived the boy had been swept away. The body was recovered a quarter of a mile down the stream.

INJURED BY FALL

Mrs. H. Clay Buckner, who resides with Miss Lucy B. Simms, on Mt. Airy Avenue, was going from the back porch to the conservatory, when she tripped and fell down a flight of stairs, sustaining a severe scalp wound. She was given medical attention by Dr. Charles G. Daugherty, who pronounced her injuries not serious. Mrs. Buckner suffered from the shock, but was reported as doing nicely yesterday.

SEEKING WHEREABOUTS OF MISSING RELATIVE

In accordance with the recent order from the Postoffice Department at Washington to all postmasters, making the postoffices an adjunct to the city and county authorities in locating missing people, the local office has received a large number of inquiries. The newspapers have been asked to aid in this work. The following are among the latest received at the Paris office:

Janie Trimble, of 1413 Spring Street, Covington, asks the postoffice officials to help locate Mary Clinkenbeard (colored) who is thought to be living in this county. His father's name is given as Silas Clinkenbeard.

Mrs. George Y. Ream, of Oakville, Iowa, writes the department in an effort to locate a family by the name of Montgomery, former residents of the Centerville vicinity. Mrs. Ream states: "I am trying to reach someone by the name of Hugh Montgomery. My brother, Foster Montgomery, visited the Montgomerys, near Centerville, in Bourbon county, some fifteen or sixteen years ago. I am not certain the name of Hugh, but I know our branch of the Montgomerys all have a Hugh. I would like to join the D. A. R. Society, but know so little of my ancestry that I scarcely know how to begin. My brother, Foster Montgomery, is dead, also my parents, and I have no one left to obtain information from. I am taking this method, in hopes someone in Bourbon county may help me to locate these people."

ARRESTED FOR CHICKEN STEALING

One turkey gobbler and eight chicken hens formed the sum total of the loot which Dewey Myers, confessed to taking from the farm of Roy McKinney, near Spears Mill, when placed under arrest yesterday by Deputy Sheriff R. M. Gilkey.

Mr. McKinney, who lives on the T. J. Harney farm, near Spears Mill, reported his loss to the Sheriff's office. Deputy Sheriff Gilkey got on the trail and landed Myers, who confessed when confronted with evidence accusing him of the crime. The fowls had been sold to the H. & H. Poultry Co., in this city, where they were identified by Mr. McKinney as the property stolen from him Saturday night. Myers was held for examining trial before County Judge Batterton, in the County Court.

BANKS PLEDGE TOBACCO LOAN

NEARLY TWO MILLION PLEDGED

Bankers of Kentucky and the Ohio and Indiana counties in the Burley district, in one of the most remarkable meetings of bankers ever held in this State, pledged the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association loans totalling $1,878,000, and Judge Robert W. Bingham, of Louisville, pledged his personal aid to the extent of $1,000,000.

In most instances the pledges of the bankers equalled the legal limit of the banks they represented, and it was said after the meeting adjourned that many banks had not had opportunity to subscribe because of the fact that the notices sent out calling the meeting had not given time for meeting of the directors.

Judge Ed. C. O'Rear, of Frankfort, and Robert C. Talbott, of Paris, discussed the constitutionality of the Bingham cooperative marketing act, and both expressed the opinion that the bill was constitutional and would be so held by the courts.

In his talk before the conference, Judge Bingham declared that no court in the United States has ever declared such a law unconstitutional though they have been enacted by fourteen States and have been in operation in some of these for years.

The meeting of the bankers and officials of the association was called to order in the ball room of the Phoenix Hotel, Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock and was in session for three hours. President Jas. C. Stone of the association, explained the purpose of the meeting, and frankly explained the fact that attorneys for Louisville banks had expressed the opinion that the law was unconstitutional. He went thoroughly into the question of the enactment of the Bingham law, told of the care with which it had been prepared after all phases of the legal question has been studied by men who had made a specialty of such laws for fifteen years.

Robert C. Talbott, of Paris, prominent lawyer, discussed briefly the Bingham marketing act. The security offered for the proposed loans, he said, would not be affected in any way by the constitutionality of the co-operative marketing act. The rights of holders of warehouse receipts, he said, did not depend on the existence of the association but were amply secured by the general law of the State.

"After a careful inspection of the statutes, Federal and State," he said, "I would say that you need have no hesitation to believe that the courts will hold the new act constitutional."

General Counsel Aaron Sapiro of the association, announced the amount of the loan made by the bankers and proposed the appointment of a committee to draw up the trust agreement under which the loan is to be handled. This committee is composed of Monty Goble, of Cincinnati, or his representative; James B. Brown, of Louisville, or his nominee; C. N. Manning, of Lexington, James McClure, of Paris, and J. A. Cheek, of Danville.

When the call was made for subscriptions or pledges to the loan the Bourbon county banks, through their representatives, made the following responses: First National Bank, $20,000; Deposit Bank, North Middletown, $15,000; Bourbon-Agricultural Bank & Trust Co., $32,000; Peoples-Deposit Bank & Trust Co., $25,000; Farmers and Traders Bank, $10,000.

INSPECTOR FINDS BOURBON OFFICES O. K.

The official "O. K." of the State has been placed on the public offices of Bourbon county through the official visit here of Assistant State Inspector and Examiner T. Z. Morrow, brother of Governor Edwin P. Morrow. Mr. Morrow conducted an exhaustive examination of the banks papers and records in the offices of the County Judge, County Clerk and County Attorney of Bourbon county, and in each case gave his official sanction and clearance to the officials in charge of the business of those offices. No detail was overlooked and none was spared, but the examiner made his time count.

On the books of County Clerk Pearce Paton, Mr. Morrow made a notation, to the following effect: "Examined from March 1, 1920, to January 1, 1922, and found all funds properly accounted for. (Signed, T. Z. Morrow, Assistant Inspector and Examiner, this January 18, 1922.)" A similar notation was recorded on the books of the other officers.

RECEIVE TOBACCO JANUARY 30

Lexington Houses Will Receive The Weed on Jan. 28, Others On Jan 30

INSURANCE DEALS ARE MADE

Pooled tobacco will be received in Lexington, beginning Thursday, January 26, and all other towns Monday, January 30.

The Board of Directors of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association set these dates for delivery of tobacco in instructions to Ralph M. Barker, director of warehouses.

The opening dates will be made known at once to the 55,000 members of the association, who patiently have been awaiting the announcement.

Bush W. Allen, second vice-president of the association, left for Washington to present the petition of the association for a loan of $10,000,000 from the War Finance Corporation to be used to refund to the banks that advance money to the association to pay growers on the delivery of their crops.

With the last of the difficulties attending the start of the association ironed out at the meeting, assurances already given of the aid of the War Finance Corporation and the support of the banks which advised their depositors to join the association and promised in advance all the help possible. President Jas. C. Stone and his associates were optimistic over the outlook, and the resumption of business in the tobacco district and a general improvement in business of all kinds as one result.

The directors also adopted the report of the Committee of Insurance composed of Bush W. Allen, of Harrodsburg, and John B. Winn, of Versailles, which awarded all the insurance on the 117 warehouses and their equipment to the local agents of the district, to be placed directly by them.

It gave to Reutlinger & Co., of Louisville, the insurance on tobacco in warehouses or in transit, in connection with the local agents, and placed the bond business with J. Morton Morris, of Louisville, in association with local agents. The employers' liability part of the association's business was placed with Thos. S. Dugan, of Louisville, in connection with the local agents.

The insurance on the tobacco will run into large figures, it was said yesterday, but most of it is likely to be so-called short-term insurance, running for but a few months of the year, while the insurance on the real property and equipment, which goes to the local agents, is of course, permanent.

WHAT DOES T. D. BILL MEAN?

Is the question asked many times each day. It means that if you buy a $35 suit or overcoat here T. D. Bill's gift of ten dollars makes the garment cost you $25 net. (11) J. W. DAVIS & CO.

PARIS HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

One of the most interesting and helpful lectures that has been given at the City School this year was given Thursday by Judge George Batterton. This lecture was given to the night class in Commercial Law. Judge Batterton's subject was "Negotiable Instruments," and he showed clearly the importance of being informed on this important subject.

Prof. W. Lewis Roberts, of the Law Department of the University of Kentucky, will be the visiting speaker before this class Thursday evening, Feb. 22, 1922. Visitors are welcome to come to any of these lectures, and the welcome to join the class at any time.

The Senior Class of the Wednesday High School will give a comedy in the auditorium of the Paris High School Friday night, February 27. The title of this play is "Clearance," and was written by Booth Tarkington, whose skill in depicting the modern American is unexcelled. The play has already been presented in Winchester, and has received a most favorable criticism. The cast consists of members who possess unusual dramatic ability, and their interpretation of "Clearance" is highly creditable. The play furnishes lots of fun and laughter and the public is cordially invited.

HERO'S BODY EN ROUTE HOME

WILL ARRIVE HERE SOON

After many months of waiting for some news in regard to his son, James E. Cain, of Paris, who was reported as having been killed in action in France on July 26, 1918, John Cain, Sr., of this city, received a telegram Saturday morning from Congressman James Campbell Cantrell, at Washington, advising him that the body of his son had arrived at New York from overseas, and would be shipped to Paris later, the date to be wired to Mr. Cain as soon as ascertained from the War Department.

Jimmie Cain was one of those unassuming heroes whose name have left an indelible impress on pages of history from the very fact that he was unassuming, but still as much a hero. He was in his twenty-third year at the time of his death. He left Paris with one of the first details of Bourbon county boys for Camp Zachary Taylor, on September 22, 1917. As the detail was marching up Main street to the Louisville & Nashville passenger station, a bystander asked young Cain what he was going to do when he got to France. The answer came quick and pointedly: "I am going to fight for Uncle Sam—what else would I be going over there for?"

Soon after his arrival in France his parents received letters regularly telling in an interesting manner of his many experiences, until the latter part of January, 1918, when the letters ceased, and nothing further was heard from him until a telegram came telling of his death on the field of battle with his face bravely to the enemy. The body was recovered and interred with the brave fallen in the American Cemetery in France, where it remained until disinterred to be brought back to his old home. Within a few months after the news of his death here, his mother died from what physicians stated was a broken heart, lamenting the loss of her youngest son.

The body upon arrival here, will be taken in charge by a detail from Bourbon Post, of the American Legion, and accorded a burial in the

HUNDREDS OF TOBACCO GROWERS REGISTER

In pursuance of the announced policy of the Cooperative Tobacco Marketing Association, several hundred tobacco growers of Bourbon county registered their 1921 crops at the Bourbon Tobacco Warehouse, in this city yesterday.

For hours a long line of farmers and growers waited patiently for their turn to be called. Each man was given a tag bearing a number which corresponded with number on the Association's books. The supply of tags running out the men were marked with a chalk number on their coats. The number was recorded in a special book, and each man will be notified when to bring his tobacco to the houses to be placed on the floors. In this way congestion of the driveways and streets will be avoided, and only as much tobacco delivered each day as can be economically and judiciously handled by the Warehouse people.

The registration will continue each day between the hours of 7:00 a. m. and 5:00 p. m. at the office of the old Bourbon Tobacco Warehouse Co., Everyone in a position to hold back a while with his tobacco is urged to do so, and thereby give those who are facing serious financial problems an opportunity to get in on the delivery and sale of their crops, which will mean so much to them. It will be better for the grower, as well as for the Association, if the tobacco is delivered in crop lots.

WORKING HOURS OF WOMEN VARY

States Differ Widely in Regulating Labor of 8,000,000 Wage Earners.

NO LIMIT IN FIVE STATES

Regulations on Night Employment—South Dakota Has 70-Hour Week—Minimum Wage Laws in Force in Some States.

New York.—With more than 8,000,000 women "gainfully occupied" in the United States, the legal status of women as employees becomes a matter of increasing importance to industry. According to a statement issued by the National Industrial Conference board, "According to the most recent official summaries, daily working hours for women in the United States are limited," the statement says, "as follows:

"To eight hours in the District of Columbia, Colorado, California, Washington, Montana, Nevada, Utah, Arizona and New Mexico; in Kansas there is a law providing punitive overtime for work over eight or nine hours, according to the industry; to eight and one-half hours in North Dakota; to nine hours in Massachusetts, New York, Maine, Ohio, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Arkansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Texas, Idaho and Oregon; to ten hours in Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Jersey, Maryland, Virginia, Kentucky, Georgia, Mississippi, Louisiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, South Dakota and Wyoming; to ten and one-half hours in Tennessee and Vermont; to eleven hours in North Carolina; to twelve hours in South Carolina, while no legal limitations exist in Iowa, Indiana, West Virginia, Alabama and Florida.

No Limitation in Working Hours.

"These latter five states have no limitation in the weekly working hours of women. The 48 hours a week limitation is prescribed in Massachusetts, California, Oregon, Utah and North Dakota; in Illinois and South Dakota the legal limitation is 70 hours a week. In Ohio 50 hours; in Wisconsin, Connecticut and Delaware 55 hours; in New Jersey, Wyoming, Kentucky, Mississippi, Louisiana, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia and Maryland 60 hours; in Vermont, Washington, Montana, Nevada, Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico 50 hours; in Tennessee 57 hours, and in all the other states, Maine, New Hampshire, New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Texas 54 hours. The variation as to weekly hours is, therefore, much greater than the variation as to daily hours.

"Night work for women is prohibited in more than one occupation in New York, Connecticut, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Kansas, Oregon and California; in industry only in Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Indiana; in mercantile employment only in South Carolina; for railroad and street railway ticket sellers only in Ohio; in the District of Columbia the number of hours that may be worked at night is limited in the same manner as day work.

Control of Night Work.

"State control of night work for women exists only in 14 states; Delaware, Kansas, Maryland, Nebraska, New Hampshire and Wisconsin limit the night hours of all women wage earners. Connecticut, Delaware, Indiana, Kansas, Massachusetts, Nebraska, New York, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Utah and Wisconsin prohibit women from night work in certain occupations. Wisconsin and Nebraska limit night work to eight consecutive hours, Delaware and Maryland limit hours to eight and further specify definite hours as night hours. Kansas, New Hampshire and Wisconsin limit night hours to eight and weekly night work to 48 hours. The number of occupations covered is, as a rule, small. Indiana and Pennsylvania cover manufacturing establishments only.

"Mandatory minimum wage laws for women, with rates fixed by a commission are in force in Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, Kansas, Arkansas, Colorado, Washington, Oregon and California; in Utah and Arizona there is a mandatory minimum wage law with the wage fixed by law; in Massachusetts there is a minimum wage fixed by a commission, but not mandatory; in all of the other states there is no law."

MONUMENT TO U. S. WAR DOGS

Will Stand in Only American Animal Cemetery as Memorial to Battle-Field Messengers.

New York.—A monument to perpetuate the memory of messenger dogs that served on the battlefields of France and Belgium is to be erected in the dog cemetery at Hartsdale, near White Plains, N. Y. The memorial, it was announced by plot holders, will cost $2,500.

Designed by a well-known sculptor, the monument is to stand on a boulder overlooking a much-traveled motor highway and will consist of a war dog in heroic size, with helmet and canteen of bronze. The Hartsdale cemetery is said to be the only animal burial ground in the United States, with the one in Paris its only rival in the world.

We are authorized by the owner, Mrs. Nannie Clay Howard, to sell her farm of 122 acres, more or less, with improvements thereon, located on the Escondida pike, about 5 1-2 miles from Paris, and about 1-2 mile from Escondida Station, on the L. & N. R. R.

The improvements consist of a good tenant house of four rooms, 8 acre tobacco barn, practically new, and other out-buildings.

Abundance of water for man and beast, fencing extra good.

About 80 acres of the farm is in old bluegrass sod, and about 45 acres in a high state of cultivation.

BLUE GRASS SEED GROWERS ORGANIZE

Initial steps toward formation of a co-operative marketing association of the blue grass producers of Kentucky were taken at a mass meeting of the growers, held in the courthouse at Winchester, last week at which time a committee was appointed to draft a contract suitable for the use of the proposed organization, this committee to report back to the growers at a meeting to be called at some date in the near future.

About thirty-five growers, representing the blue grass seed producers of six Central Kentucky counties, were present at the session. The personnel of the committee named at the meeting follows: Samuel Clay, William and Warren Rogers, Bourbon county; Edward Prewitt and Chenault Woodford, Montgomery; Rhodes Estill, B. E. Allen and Dave Prewitt, Fayette; Lewis Neal and T. J. Prewitt, Madison; Ben Goff, Joe Lindsay and T. W. Brock, Clark.

This committee is expected to get in touch with the Bureau of Market, of the Kentucky Experiment Station, and secure data relative to the possibilities of the plan, and also to confer with Aaron Sapiro California marketing expert, with regard to the compilation and arrangement of the contracts.

The main aim of the proposed association, according to local growers who are interested, will be an effort to stabilize the market. It is pointed out that as the crop of blue grass is one that is subject to a degree of variance insofar as production is concerned and that the great need of the producer is for an organization that will bring the stabilization of the market.

CATAPULT TO LAUNCH PLANE FROM WARSHIP

Navy Has Designed One on Turntable Which Can Be Operated on Any Ship.

INGENIOUSLY SIMPLE DEVICE

Airplane May Be Launched Into Wind Without Regard to Direction Battleship Is Headed—Compressed Air Is Used.

Washington.—The navy has been launching airplanes from the decks of battleships for several years, but it has hitherto been necessary always to maneuver the battleship so as to launch the airplane directly into the wind. This manifestly, would be impossible in actual battle. So the United States Navy department has just developed a system whereby an airplane may be catapulted into the wind without regard to the direction the battleship is headed.

The Scientific American gives a complete description of this ingeniously simple device, which is now being shown at the Philadelphia navy yard. Following is the article, slightly condensed:

"To permit the launching of airplanes from a battleship or other war vessel the catapult has been resorted to, and a special type of catapult has been developed which has been designated a turntable catapult because the catapult mechanism proper is mounted on a turntable so that it can be pointed into the wind when launching a plane.

"One catapult of this type could be installed on every battleship and could launch when needed a fighting airplane, so that a fleet of battleships would be able on the approach of hostile bombing airplanes to send into the air instantly a large number of fighting planes to shoot them down before the bombing attack could be developed. This is the real answer to the threat of the bombing plane, which was demonstrated in so spectacular a manner by the recent bombing from the air of the ex-German warships.

"In the bombing attacks of these ex-German warships it was shown that bombs dropped from the air could do material damage to warships which did not defend themselves. Obviously a warship can defend itself by anti-aircraft gunfire, but never by attack in the air. The weapons of offense and defense in the history of naval warfare have always developed step by step and the development of the heavy bombing airplane is being met by this development of a catapult which will shoot fast combat planes from the decks of battleships into the air to repel bombing attacks.

Developed in Ten Years.

"The catapult of this particular type is new, but the elements are the result of navy catapult development initiated in 1911 by Capt. Washington I. Chambers, at that time in charge of naval aviation experiments. The first flight was made Nov. 12, 1912, by Commander, then Lieutenant, T. G. Ellyson in a Curtiss seaplane from a catapult.

"The matter was resumed in 1915 when the development of naval seaplanes had proceeded to such a point that it was clear to the Navy it would be desirable to take aircraft to sea. A new design of catapult, based on experience with the first one, was installed on the stern of the armored cruiser North Carolina and successful flights were made. The North Carolina installation proved so reliable that similar catapults were installed on the armored cruisers Seattle and Huntington, and during the early winter of 1916 successful flights were made from these cruisers.

"At the time the United States entered the war the principal naval effort was anti-submarine in its object and the convoy of shipping. Aircraft were not needed aboard these cruisers for this purpose, and the catapults were removed. After the armistice, the catapult problem was again taken up and a catapult, similar to the North Carolina design, which had been in use at Pensacola for training aviators while mounted on a coal barge, was brought to Washington and further tests and investigations made.

"The old catapults, such as were used on the North Carolina, consisted of a track along which a carriage was propelled by a compressed air cylinder. The airplane was mounted on this carriage, and as the carriage speeded up it released the airplane at the end of its run, allowing it to fly into the air. The track for this catapult was mounted along the centerline of the ship, and since it was necessary to launch the airplane direct into the relative wind, it was necessary for the ship to set herself on such a course that the wind blew in the direction of the catapult track.

"This maneuver, while entirely feasible, necessitated the ship turning out of formation, or heading upon some course which, might prove, very disadvantageous. The turntable catapult obviates this, and is relatively small and compact.

Compressed Air Used.

The turntable catapult consists of a bridge-like structure mounted on a turntable upon which there is the usual car which carries the airplane, and this car is propelled by compressed air. Frequent tests have demonstrated that it is possible to launch by such a mechanism any of the types of airplane or seaplane which would be carried upon a battleship.

"The problem of launching an airplane in a short run by means of the catapult depends upon several factors. The first and primary one is, of course, that at the end of the run the catapult should have given the plane a speed such that when the plane is released from the car the wings will lift it into the air and flight has begun. This requires that the launching velocity shall be somewhat in excess of the minimum flying speed of the plane. Second, it is necessary while the plane is being brought up to this flying speed that the plane be held securely to the launching carriage in order that it will not leave the track too soon. Finally, it is necessary that the acceleration of launching shall not be so great or so violent as to injure the pilot, who must ride in the plane and preserve all his senses alert in order to take charge as soon as he is released at the end of the run.

"Under many conditions the seaplane in its present state of development is entirely practical, although in very rough weather a landing upon the sea is likely to mean the damage if not the loss of the seaplane, although it is to be expected that the aviator can be rescued. The conditions of the weather, however, are not believed to offer any inconvenience to launching by means of the catapult, and in time of war the commander in chief will launch his planes in the air where they may accomplish their mission regardless of whether or not the planes may be salvaged intact upon their landing."

Federal Law Needed.

In summing up the development of aviation in 1921 the Scientific American says:

"The outstanding fact in American aeronautics is that the United States is still awaiting the passage of a federal law for the licensing of pilots, the inspection of machines and the general encouragement and control of the industry. As matters stand, any man is at liberty to buy or build an inferior machine, take up passengers at so much a head, and kill both them and himself (as not infrequently happens) without a word of official protest. Thus, the art is discredited and the public discouraged. If aeronautics is not illegal, it is at best nonlawful and will remain so until congress does its duty. While foreign governments are encouraging aviation, commercial progress in the United States is due entirely to the unaided efforts of the manufacturer and the individual inventor. All honor to them.

"Some truly remarkable records have marked the efforts of the past week. In France, Sadi Leconte in training for the Deutsch cup contests, achieved a speed of 206 1/2 miles an hour in a biplane, and came pretty close to that mark in the race itself. This was for a short distance, straight-away.

"The record over a 150-mile closed circuit was gained in the Pulitzer trophy by Bert Acosta in a Curtiss Navy racer, when he covered the distance at an average speed of 176.7 miles per hour.

"Another startling feat was that of Lieut. John A. Macready, who on September 28, rising from McCook field, Dayton, O., attained a height of 40,000 feet. He used electrically heated clothing, the oxygen tank, and the gas turbine supercharger. His La Pere biplane was the same in which Schroeder climbed to 38,180 feet in the preceding year.

All Metal Monoplane in Favor.

"This all-metal monoplane continues to gain favor, and its performance is characterized by a remarkable low gas consumption, due, of course largely to its excellent motor. There has been a remarkable revival of interest in the monoplane as a good type for moderate speeds. The thickness of wing which is necessitated by internal bracing is unsuitable for the highest speeds. Leconte used a biplane with the characteristic thin wings of the modern racing machine.

"Multiple engines, so coupled up as to be capable of being run independently, are growing in favor. Martin and Gallaudet, among American designers, have secured excellent results with this arrangement. Regular airplane passenger service, running on schedule, has made progress, slow, it may be, but encouraging.

"Abroad, the French and British are still maintaining their London-Paris routes; other services in Europe have been running consistently, and new routes have been established during the year. On this side of the water we have seen the inauguration of the Key West to Havana and other passenger-carrying services. The air mail functioned with a regularity which should encourage congress greatly to enlarge its scope.

"Mention should be made of the Petrosky helicopter, which, in tests, lifted itself to a height of 100 feet. It weighs 2,900 pounds and is held captive for observation purposes, taking the place of the vulnerable balloon.

"The prospects of successful dirigible passenger service have undoubtedly been set back somewhat by the offer of the British government to give away its fleet of six dirigibles, coupled with the failure of any private company to accept the gift, and by the tragic loss of the latest ship 'ZR-2'."

NEGROES MOVE NORTH

Counter Movement Back to Southern States Also Is Shown—47,223 Negroes Born in North Migrate to the South.

Washington.—The total number of negroes reported as born in southern states and living in the North and West had increased from 440,534 in 1910 to 780,794 in 1920, the census bureau announced in a special report on negro migration based on returns of the last census. The southern boundaries of New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri and Kansas were taken as the dividing line between the North and South for the purposes of the report.

Of the 10,381,309 negroes enumerated in the last census, there were 38,575 for whom no state of birth was reported. The 780,794 southern-born negroes shown to have migrated to the North or West constituted 8.1 per cent of the total of 9,006,943 negroes born in the southern section. The percentage of this migration for the preceding decade was not shown.

Against this migration from the South to the North and West, of the total of 741,791 reported in the last census as born in states of the latter region, 47,223, or 6.4 per cent, were living in the South. Thus the proportion of southern-born negroes who migrated to the North or West, according to the report, was only about one-fourth larger than the proportion of those born in the latter region who migrated to the South.

"While it is impossible to calculate exactly the extent of negro migration from the South during the decade ended with 1920," the census report said, "the available data indicates that approximately 400,000, or somewhat more than half of the 733,571 survivors of the net negro migration from the South to the North and West prior to January 1, 1920, left the South subsequently to April 15, 1910."

"Although migration to the North and West has not taken place among the far southern negroes to the same extent, relatively to their total numbers, as among the negroes in the northern part of the South, there was, nevertheless, a pronounced increase in such migration from the Far South during the past decade."

As examples of this gain, the report cited increases in the migration of negroes from southern states to Pennsylvania from 1910 to 1920 as follows: Georgia, 1,578 to 16,196; South Carolina, 2,115 to 11,624; Florida, 393 to 5,370. The migration from Alabama to Ohio increased from 781 to 17,588; from Mississippi to Illinois, 4,612 to 19,485; Texas to Missouri, 1,907 to 4,344.

35,000 "VAGS" IN NEW YORK

Very Few Former Service Men Are Among Migratory Army of the Homeless.

New York.—There are, according to a conservative estimate, 35,000 homeless men in this city today. Since 1914 the average age of these men has dropped from forty-seven to thirty-two, and many of them are mere youths. Roy P. Gates, member of the national committee on vagrancy, stamped as incorrect a report published in a San Francisco newspaper under a New York date line, that New York's homeless are drifting to the Pacific coast because they have been ordered by the police to find jobs or get out of town.

If there has been an influx of homeless men and panhandlers to the cities of the west coast it is a sign only of a condition which is general, says Mr. Gates.

Few ex-service men are among the migratory army of the homeless.

Mr. Gates said that the lowest type of destitute man is the one who begs aims on the street, and that the practice of giving him money is a bad one, since it encourages him. The better plan is to direct him to some reputable charitable agency which can help him.

Bank Robbed Often.

Shipsheana, Ind.—The Farmers' State bank here was robbed of $15,000 in currency and Liberty bonds early the other day. The safe had been opened with the aid of an acetylene torch. Officials said the loss was covered by insurance. Local authorities believe three men who came here late in the day in an automobile committed the robbery. It was the ninth time the bank had been robbed in 20 years and the third time this year. Shipsheana is located ten miles west of Lagrange.

His Luck Is Out When Tadpoles Hatch in Milk

Nairobi, Africa.—A native charged in the resident magistrate's court here with milk adulteration strenuously denied the allegation.

In the temporary absence of experts he might have been acquitted, but his luck was dead out, for during the course of the trial a family of tadpoles hatched out in the milk.

He was sent to jail for a month without the option.

C. D. Thompson, who bought out Charley Monson's business, has on exhibition in his show window, on Main street, a tobacco stalk measuring 7½ feet in height. COUNTY COURT NEWS

At a dance given on Second street Friday night Claude Purcell, Marvin Purcell and Homer Martin became estranged and started a rough house play which resulted in their arrest on a charge of breach of peace. They were brought before County Judge George Batterton, who fined Martin $10 and costs, and discharged the Purcells from custody.

Nelson P. Gay and Catesby Woodford qualified in the County Court as executors of the estate of the late Wm. W. Gay. They furnished bond in the sum of $10,000, no surety being required under the terms of the will.

THE BIGGEST DAY OF THEM ALL

It has been suggested that when all the drives, thrift days, benefits, charitable campaigns, budget funds, and all-have-a-bank-account-started, debts paid, church suppers, sales, school house pie dinners and parties, tobacco sold, etc., etc., are over, let's have a day or week set aside, and call it "Attend To Your Own Business Day."

We'll guarantee that if we all go into it with a will it will be one of the biggest, busiest, best and most prosperous days that was ever pulled off in Bourbon county.

Anyhow, let's try it out—nobody was ever hurt attending to their own business.

Then why load up on handicaps for the day's work?

A good deal of food, unwisely chosen, does weigh the body down and clog the digestion, and dull the brain.

Why put on the hobbles?

MARKET REPORT ON BUTTER AND EGGS FOR THIS WEEK.

Further decline in butter markets has been the important fact during the week. The decline is primarily due to large increase in domestic production and importations of foreign butter. Shipments of nearly 2,000,000 pounds were recently received from Australia and New Zealand, and shipments are also being received from Denmark. Additional shipments of New Zealand butter are expected about the middle of this week.

The United States Department of Agriculture, in its preliminary report, shows holdings of eggs in cold storage:

January 1, 1922—904,000 cases as compared with January 1, 1921—408,000 cases. Excess, 496,000 cases.

Weather conditions generally have been favorable for egg production and large supplies of fresh eggs have been available on all markets, resulting in lower prices in the producing and consuming centers and entailing a severe loss on holders of storage eggs.

There has been an ample supply of poultry marketed during the week. Last year's young roosters are not now as desirable as earlier in the season, and are selling at lower prices.

Fowl are in lighter supply and no doubt, many producers are holding them back on account of the increased egg production.

NATURE TELLS YOU

As Many a Paris Reader Knows Too Well

When the kidneys are weak, Nature tells you about it. The urine is nature's index. Infrequent or too frequent passage.

Other disorders suggest kidney ills.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for disordered kidneys.

Paris people testify to their worth.

D. L. Honican, 411 Main St., Paris, says: "A few months ago my kidneys almost put me past going. They were weak and I was annoyed by the frequent action of my kidneys. The secretions were highly colored and passed frequently. My back ached most all the time. I was restless at night and couldn't sleep. My kidneys were in such a bad shape that I began using Doan's Kidney Pills which I got at Oberdorfer's Drug Store and it didn't take them long to fix me up in good shape. I have never since been bothered and I can't recommend Doan's Kidney Pills any too highly."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Honican had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

FRANCE NOW HAS ANOTHER "KENTUCKY PRINCESS"

Announcement has been made of the birth of a daughter, Marie Louise Olga, to Prince and Princess Christian of Hesse at their residence in Paris, No. 4 Rue de Bresbourg.

The Princess Christian was formerly Miss Elizabeth Reid Rogers, of Mt. Sterling, and well-known here. She was married to the Prince in Trinity church in Berlin, January 14, 1915. He is head of the Philippstahl-Barchfeld branch of an old family of Hesse. The little Princess is the second daughter.

Mr. Rogers was formerly consul-general of the Isthmian Canal Commission and connected with the Interborough Rapid Transit Company. His daughter's marriage was the result of a romance that began in Washington in 1913 when she was the leader of a circle of society women interested in athletics and was the youngest and best fencer in the National Capital.

The Rogers family is well-known in Paris and Bourbon county. R. Reid Rogers is, as his full name, Richard Reid Rogers, implies, a namesake of the late Judge Richard Reid, prominent jurist of Mt. Sterling. He owns a fine farm on the Cynthiana pike, near Paris, and has been a frequent visitor here.

INGROWN TOE NAIL TURNS OUT ITSELF

A noted authority says that a few drops of "Outgrow" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

"Outgrow" is a harmless, antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions. (T-T)

Habits of the Birds.

Most birds' families do not keep together, but scatter upon leaving the nest. But the bluejay, bluebird, the kingbird and a few others less generally known live together the greater part of the year.

The man had sprung from the gutter. Gangster, gunfighter, spawn of a great city's slums. The girl, an invalid, lived on a roof top. Below her, the roar of the world. Above her, the stars, the infinite blue and the God of her innocent faith. One day the man, pursued by the police, rushed into her life. What comes after that, your heart will cherish always. Perhaps you read that remarkable story of Calvin Johnson, "Temple Duak," in the Saturday Evening Post. And, if so, you remember the weird atmosphere that envelops it—the hushed mystery of the gambling den; the drama that played itself out, with death and irony as spectators! That story was made into a photoplay under the name of "Without Limit" and breathes the power of the original.

It's a screen play we know you will enjoy. A George D. Baker Production.
